Sheriff's office seeking public's help in locating missing woman

ROSEBURG -- The Douglas County Sheriff's Office is asking for the public's assistance in locating 61-year-old Lori Sharman of Roseburg, who was reported missing at approximately 3:45 p.m. on Thursday, November 20, after family and friends were unable to reach her throughout the day.

Through the course of the investigation, deputies located video showing Sharman leaving her residence in the Green District of Roseburg on foot at 11:55 p.m. on Wednesday, November 19. She did not return. She was last seen walking south on Carnes Road toward Castle Avenue in Roseburg.

She is described to be 5"00" tall, 115 lbs with hazel eyes and curly shoulder length blonde hair. At the time she left, Sharman was wearing a maroon long-sleeve shirt with translucent sleeves, a black vest, cuffed blue jeans, and black and white sneakers. She left her cell phone, wallet, and all credit/debit cards inside her residence.

Sharman has a mental health diagnosis that may cause her to behave unpredictably, and she reportedly walks with a limp.

Deputies are urging anyone who may have seen Sharman or who has information about her whereabouts to contact the Douglas County Sheriff's Office at 541-440-4471 and reference case number 25-4005. Residents and businesses in the surrounding area are also encouraged to check their surveillance camera footage and report any findings.

Roseburg man arrested on attempted murder charges

ROSEBURG -- On Sunday, November 9, deputies responded to the 1300 block of Gazley Road for a report of an assault.

The victim of the assault had been transported to Mercy Medical Center earlier in the night after it was reported the victim may have fallen, but it was determined the injuries did not match the reported fall.

Due to the severity of the injuries, Douglas County Sheriff's detectives responded to the scene. During the course of the investigation, detectives determined the victim, 73-year-old Stephen Balliew of Myrtle Creek, was severely injured after 21-year-old Heath Lethlean of Roseburg, broke into Balliew's residence and assaulted him with an object.

Lethlean had fled the scene following the assault.

On Friday, November 14, Lethlean was contacted and arrested in Roseburg. Lethlean was lodged at the Douglas County Jail for Attempted Murder II.

Detectives are continuing the investigation.

BEING OF GOOD CHEER

The annual Cork and Keg Walk was held last Friday evening in downtown Myrtle Creek and despite the chilly weather many people came out to sample all the local wares and enjoy the snacks provided by the participating businesses. (ABOVE) The crew at Trueblood Real Estate shows that they are prepared for the holiday season and ready to be full of good cheer. (BELOW) Those sampling the spirits at MSK Home & Hardware were also treated to a smorgasbord of snacks as they enjoyed their drinks. The event was sponsored by Main Street Myrtle Creek Association. Food Banks Need Our Help in Responding to Hunger

- *According to the USDA, food insecurity increased by 6 percent in 2023. That is 1 in 7 adults and 1 in 5 children suffer from hunger.
- *The recent inflation has increased food insecurity among families with children and communities of color.
- *Every community in the country is home to families who face hunger. But rural communities are especially hard hit.
- *Many households that experience food insecurity do not qualify for federal nutrition programs and visit their local food banks and other food programs for extra support.
- *In 2024, over 47 million people were living in food insecure house-holds, the highest rate since 2014.
- *Over 750,000 Oregonians saw drastic cuts to grocery budgets and many of these families showed up at food assistance sites.
- *It doesn't take a big commitment to make a big impact towards solving the hunger problem in America.
- *Donate to your local food bank or become a volunteer. Let's work together to solve food insecurity in America and provide everyone with the opportunity to avoid going hungry.

Life is too short to continue to let barriers and what we might misidentify as barriers get in the way.

We all have our own social, religious and political views and we all know the old adage that there are two things you never discuss with friends and that is religion and politics.

Well, I am saying let's throw all that baggage away and let's just talk to one another as human beings, no stereotypes, no ethnic boundaries, no gender barriers. Just as stripped naked and raw emotional human beings.

We need to be thankful for who and what each and everyone of us is. Especially this time of year as we start the emotional roller coaster of the holidays.

Take a look at our forefathers on that very first Thanksgiving. There was no persecution for the religious beliefs of the Native Amer-

This is also so very pertinent as so many changes are happening in the world and a few right here at home.

I am talking about The Douglas County Mail. We recently embarked on a new journey, our website and an e-edition of the newspaper. Well because of changes that have occurred in our revenue stream and the continuing cost of printing and mailing, it appears unless we see some significant changes in advertising that after the December 25 issue this year we will be moving to a totally online presence and cease printing.

This does not come easily for me and my heart is very heavy because I am a newspaperman and newspapers are supposed to be printed.

Yes, this is the proverbial Thank You section, but with a twist so stay tuned.

Probably one of the most influential people in my life was my father, Lyle Chaney. A logger by trade and the smartest man I have met still to this day. He enjoyed sitting around reading encyclopedias and the dictionary.

In Lions I have had and still have some very close and instrumental people.

Of course, first and foremost Chuck Johnson for introducing me to this incredible journey. Gail Black for being a mentor throughout. Vince Bishop for continuing to believe in me. Joyce Anderson for always giving me good counsel. Robin Stoeckler for being a good friend with insight beyond my realm and good pudding shots.

As for my local club I have the utmost respect for all of you but our Projects Committee in particular: Joanna, Susan, Laura, Janis and Gail. All of you are willing to work on anything at any time and what you as a group have been able to put together over the last 10 or so years has been in-

> To my grandchildren Reo and Rory you are the epitome of success. From the physical obstacles you have confronted in your short time on this earth to the High School graduates and college students you now are. I am so proud of everything you do.

That brings me to my love, my stalwart, my confidant, the most incredible person in this world, Karrie. You have stuck by my side for these last 47 years give or take. Sure we have had our trials and tribulations but here we are.

Some 24and 1/2 years ago you encouraged me to take the leap to own the paper and we did so as they say on a wing and a prayer.

We are now slowly making our way down the other side of that slippery slope and I can't think of anyone I would rather have by my side to walk for the remainder of this journey. You make me. Without you there is no me. I Love You.

So to all of these people and to everyone who has taken the time to read this column to the end I wish you the Happiest of Thanksgivings and an incredible holiday sea-

Virtual public meeting on drug prescription prices set

SALEM – The Oregon Department of Consumer and Business Services' (DCBS) Division of Financial Regulation (DFR) will be hosting a public hearing on prescription drug prices on Thursday, December 4, at 1:30 p.m. via Zoom. The public is invited to participate and here are some ways you can:

Let your voice be heard: DFR is asking for the public's help before the 2025 public hearing. The division has set up a brief survey for consumers to share their stories about rising prescription drug pric-

Drug prices play a major role in health care decisions of Oregonians, and the cost of prescription drugs have steadily increased. The division wants to hear your stories about the costs of prescription drugs and how it has affected you and your family. The previous testimonials are available on our website. Attend the hearing via Zoom: There will be opportunities for public comment, and Oregon legislators will serve as moderators for panel presentations. The legislators include Sen. Deb Patterson, Sen. Diane Linthicum, Rep. Emerson Levy, and Rep. Rob Nosse. We encourage you to testify at the hearing or provide written testimony. For more information about the hearing, email rx.prices@ dcbs.oregon.gov.

DFR has invited speakers to talk about biosimilars and their marketing. A biosimilar is a biologic product that has been found to have no clinically meaningful differences from its comparable brand-name medication by the FDA. Those speakers in-

You can learn more about the agenda on our website. There will be opportunities for public comment. Oregon Insurance Commissioner TK Keen will facilitate the hearing. The Prescription Drug Price Transparency Act (ORS 646A.689) directed the Oregon Department of Consumer and Business Services to establish a transparency program to accept reports and disclose certain information from prescription drug manufacturers, health insurance carriers, and consumers on drug prices. The goal of the program is to provide accountability for prescription drug pricing through the notice and disclosure of specific drug costs and price information from pharmaceutical manufacturers, health insurers, and consumers.

Canyonville Recapped By Mayor Christine Morgan

It's time to celebrate Thanksgiving! When I was sworn in for each of my terms I took an oath that reads "I, Christine Morgan, do solemnly swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States, and the State of Oregon, and the Charter of the City of Canyonville, all Federal and State Laws and Ordinances of the City of Canyonville, and that I will, to the best of my ability, faithfully perform the duties of mayor during my continuance therein, so help me God." It's a short paragraph that speaks volumes and I agree with each and every word today just like I did three years ago. We often list people and things we're thankful for during this season and my list is a mile long! Volunteers and city staff and my family are at the top of my list. But the tip-top is reserved for God. The last little phrase "so help me God", is amazingly true. He's given me a love for my home town and the people residing therein. I thank Him for His blessings and pray you all have a wonderful Thanksgiving with family and friends.

In Canyonville:

Collection of "history hoarder" is a priceless treasure today

By Finn J.D. John

If you were to start asking local historians, asking them who the most influential Oregon historians of the 19th century were, there would be several names you would hear over and over.

You'd hear Frances Fuller Victor mentioned the most; the "Mother of Oregon History" is certainly the most famous, despite Hubert Howe Bancroft's efforts to pass off her work as his own. And you might hear a mention or two of Oregonian editor Harvey Scott — although really, Scott was more of a propagandist than a historian, and would never be caught passing on a tale that reflected poorly on the state or contradicted the heroic "Oregon story."

But the name you'd be least likely to recognize is that of a failed printer, amateur historian and compulsive collector from Portland: George Henry Himes.

George Himes is best known as the curator of the Oregon Historical Society, a position he held from 1915 until his death in 1940. That's because it was during that time that it became clear to anyone interested in state history what he had done for the state. For decades he had been, you might say, a hoarder — but a hoarder with a purpose, and a hoarder of a very specific type of material. And he left his hoard as his legacy to his adopted home state: a massive collection of things — documents, books, maps, photographs and physical artifacts — that forms the foundation of the Oregon Historical Society's collections today.

In doing so, Himes helped set a tone for how history would be done in Oregon — a tone that draws as much from the journalist's toolkit, and the amateur antiquarian's, as it does from the professional academic historian's

George Henry Himes was born near Troy, Pennsylvania, in 1844, and emigrated on the Oregon Trail nine years later. They settled in the town of Lacey, up in what's now Washington, and when he was 17, young George got his start as an apprentice printer to a newspaper publisher.

Himes made his way to Portland in 1864 and took a job setting type on the Portland Morning Oregonian; his hand set the type in the Oregonian that announced the assassination of Abraham Lincoln the following year. This was probably about the time he adopted his lifelong habit of historical scrapbooking and collecting, saving clippings and artifacts of contemporary historical events — forming the nucleus of the collection that he would one day bequeath to OHS.

By 1870, Himes had his own printing company, which he somewhat unimaginatively named "Himes the Printer." He'd met and married a woman named Anna Riggs, and the two of them were getting started on building a family that would eventually include 11 children.

But by 1873, Himes was already worrying about the obscurity that would soon fall upon the stories of the pioneers who had braved the Oregon Trail twenty years before. As the city around him grew in size and opulence, he worried that their stories would be lost. And, of course, being one of their number himself, he took that prospect rather personally.

So with several other Oregon Trail veterans, he formed the Oregon Pioneer Associa-

The OPA was more of a fraternal organization-cum-public-relations outfit than a true historical society. Over the years, it staged parades and banquets, sponsored lectures and shows, and published books and articles, all of which were at pains to preserve the pioneers' stories (and, a professional academic historian might remark, perhaps also to reshape and mythologize them just a bit).

But the OPA was, until the Oregon Historical Society was formed in 1900, the organization most in control of the narrative of Oregon history. And, backed up by Himes' already-huge-and-growing collection, it was growing to resemble a historical society more and more.

Himes the Printer, during this time, made a name for himself as a publisher of Pioneer Association items and other poorly-selling nuggets of Oregon history, as well as several volumes of Joaquin Miller's poetry. A lifelong Congregationalist, he was also a hardcore temperance man; when, in 1874, Frances Fuller Victor published the story of the temperance riots ("The Women's War with Whiskey; or, Crusading in Portland"), Himes was the publisher.

But Himes never was much lisher, his knack for seeing the significance of historical events as they happened was a real hindrance. Nobody wanted to read "The History of the Willamette Valley" when it was published in 1885, because that history was just a couple dozen years old and most valley residents already knew it. Similar bad decisions kept his business perpetually tottering. And it didn't help that the lion's share of his labor and time and attention were all taken up with adding to his collections, conducting oral-history interviews with aging pioneers, and volunteering on OPA events.

By 1898, though, it was clear that unless OPA was willing to open its membership to non-pioneers, something new was needed.

So Himes, together with Oregonian editor Harvey Scott and University of Oregon professor Frederic G. Young and others, formed and incorporated the Oregon Historical Society — the first of its kind on the West Coast. (The California Historical Society claims 1871 as a birth date, but shares only a name with the short-lived organization that was founded at that time. Its true founding date was 1922.)

When the OHS was launched in 1900, it was clear that it would be carrying forward in the same style as the OPA, only with more profeswas named editor of a new professional peer-reviewed journal, the Oregon Historical Quarterly. Scott became the president. And Himes, gregarious and enthusiastic as always, became the curator of the new organization's collections — almost all of which had been collected by Himes

The early years of the Oregon Historical Society have been criticized by modern historians such as E. Kimbark MacColl for being too boosterish, too interested in presenting a glorious Oregon story of bravery, nobility and regional exceptionalism, and insufficiently willing to own up to tales of darkness and meanness. Certainly the Historical Society was not the place to go to learn about shanghaiiers, bootleggers, bordellos, opium dens and political corruption. Those stories would be supplied later, by jaded newspaper raconteurs such as Stewart Holbrook and Herbert Lundy.

But although Himes probably approved of this sort of silent whitewashing of the state's history, that wasn't his department. His specialty at first just a hobby, but after 1902 his full-time occupation — was building that massive collection of artifacts, unvarnished pieces of a fast-fading past: Old books, manuscripts, photos, transcripts of more than 7,000 interviews he'd conducted with pioneers, and plenty of articles carrying his own by-line.

It's entirely possible that, if transported to the modern day, George Himes would be labeled a hoarder. Especially when he was first embarking on his lifelong collecting habit, when the artifacts he was saving — newspaper clippings, old letters, memoranda with important people's signatures on them, that kind of thing — were not yet old enough to be rare or cherished. But by saving all those things, and adding to them over a lifetime of travels and interviews and searchings-out, Himes probably contributed more to the study of Oregon history than any other single individual — and his collections are still contributing to it today.

Christmas Tree permits available for the Umpqua National Forest

ROSEBURG — Christmas tree permits are now available to purchase at Forest offices, several local businesses, and online through Recreation. gov. Details about designated cutting areas, dates, and helpful tips may be found here.

To purchase a Christmas tree permit online, visit Recreation.gov and search for the Umpqua National Forest Christmas Tree Permits. It is important to carefully read the overview and need-to-know information prior to purchasing. As specified on the permit, Christmas tree permits purchased online must be printed to be valid and can only be used on Umpqua National Forest lands. Christmas tree permits cost $5 each and are limited to one per household. An additional $2.50 fee will be charged for permits purchased through Recreation.gov.

Traditional Christmas tree permits are still available through Umpqua National Forest offices and several local businesses. Participating vendors are conveniently open evenings and weekend hours. A list of vendors is available at the end of this news release. Traditional permits are valid on Umpqua National Forest land only and do not authorize tree cutting on private, state, or other federally managed lands.

Fourth graders with an Every Kid Outdoors pass are eligible for a free Christmas tree permit and can apply by entering the pass or voucher number when purchasing a permit online (note: a $2.50 reservation fee will be applied).

Permits are available at: Bi-Mart in Roseburg, Sutherlin and Winston; Canyon Market in Canyonville, Diamond Lake Resort, Dixonville Store, Dry Creek Store in Idleyld Park, Glide Store, Idleyld Trading Post, Java Runs on Green, Harvard and Stephens, Myrtle Creek City Hall, and Peel Country Store

The USDA Forest Service has for more than 100 years brought people and communities together to answer the call of conservation. Grounded in world-class science and technology- and rooted in communities-the Forest Service connects people to nature and to each other. The Forest Service cares for shared natural resources in ways that promote lasting economic, ecological, and social vitality. The agency manages 193 million acres of public land, provides assistance to state and private landowners, maintains the largest wildland fire and forestry research organizations in the world. The Forest Service also has either a direct or indirect role in stewardship of about 900 million forested acres within the U.S., of which over 130 million acres are urban forests where most Americans live.

Christmas tree permits available

ROSEBUIRG -- Christmas tree permits for cutting your own tree(s) from BLM-administered lands will be available from the Bureau of Land Management's Roseburg District Office beginning November 17 through December 24, 2025, at the following link: https://forestproducts.blm.gov/customer/ permitselect/OR

In addition, if a person is interested in getting a Christmas tree permit in person, the public can purchase a permit from November 17 through December 24, 2025, at 777 Northwest Garden Valley Boulevard, Roseburg, Oregon, during business hours.

The cost for a single tree up to 12-feet high is $5.00. A household is limited to three trees per permit. No commercial permits will be issued. The permit tag authorizes purchasers to cut their own tree(s) on a self-serve basis in either the Swiftwater or South River Resource Areas on BLM-administered lands. Permits and maps are available for purchase by phone at 541-440-4930 from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. For more information contact BLM at (541) 440-4930.

But their hap- of the word), Indian when the corn got piness was shortlived. III-equipped to face the winter on this estranged place they were ravaged thoroughly. Somehow they were saved by a group of local Native Americans who befriended them and helped them with food.

Soon the natives taught the settlers the techniques to cultivate corn and grow native vegetables, and store them for hard days. By the next winter they had raised enough crops to keep them alive. The winter came and passed by without much harm. The settlers knew they had beaten the odds and it was
